

EUGENIE SMET

The Helpers of the Holy Souls in Purgatory (in short: Helper Sisters) were founded in Paris in 1856 by Eugenie Smet (Blessed Mary of Providence), following her founding intuitions, we want – by our entire life, as well as by our words, prayers and actions to help all people encounter God. We commit our lives at the service of hope, because we believe that there are no boundaries to love, even beyond death. Therefore, we want to go right to the end, journey with others, in quest for a more human life, and thus helping one another attain the goal of our creation: the Vision of God.

We are as an international congregation, just over 500 sisters all over the world, usually living in small communities. Wherever we are, we desire to live close to the people and to build up communities of solidarity and sharing. Our vocation is nurtured by a deep personal prayer life as well as by our sisterly support and sharing. In India our communities are located in West Bengal: in Barasat, Kolkata and Bolpur/Shatiniketan.

HELPER SISTERS

“WE BELIEVE
THAT THERE ARE NO BOUNDARIES
TO LOVE”

Jesus Christ calls us to liberate all people, to restore their dignity, and to enable them to fulfil their potential as children of God.

Jesus Christ calls us to offer all that we have and all that we are in favour of those who are on the way of purification here on earth and beyond. We have no other security than the generosity of God.

We want to go right to end, journeying with others, in the quest for a more human life, and thus helping one another attain the goal of our creation: The Vision of God.
